STAR READING TEST

- The children start off taking a reading test called STAR reading test which assesses their recoding and comprehension skills.
- It then gives them a ZPD range which is the range of the level of books that is appropriate for their reading ability. The books have been labelled and the library revamped. The label on the spine of the book shows the book level.
- They complete these assessments 3 times a year but they don't need to wait for the assessments before moving up the book levels.
